To those who truly earned our love
You whom we'll not forget
We give you now this dedication
Since now our course is set
You were there when times were tough
You felt your love was never enough
You were the stern yet gentle hand
That changed the child into the man
You held us when we felt alone
And gave us hope so far from home
You showed us faith when times were blue
So now this book we give to you...

To the Class of June 1983:

I should like to record in your yearbook the thanks and appreciation of Girard College for the positive contribution you have made to this school. It was unfortunate that your Senior year was interrupted for such a long period of time and that you were therefore denied so much that previous classes enjoyed. However, you returned for the second half of the year determined to make the best of a bad situation. You are to be commended for your restraint, your loyalty and for doing so very well in a half year what others have had a whole year to accomplish. You are stronger and the school is stronger because the Class of 1983, though a small group, did big things in spite of great odds.

I should like to record here the charge which has been given for many years to the members of the graduating class as part of the Commencement Exercises:

"Sons of Girard, I charge you now, and in the days to come, to be truly sons of Girard: to prove yourselves worthy of this name, never to betray the trust which the Founder placed in you; to use in the building of your lives what you have learned here — not only the knowledge gained, but the qualities of character which have been developed - an understanding of your fellow man, loyalty and devotion to country and all it represents, and love and reverence for your God. You may not all have the opportunity to be heroes, but you can all manifest nobility of character. You may not all bring forth world-shaking ideas, but you can all express intelligence and integrity and loving kindness. Just as the lives of those Girardians who have preceded you may serve as an inspiration to you, so may you, in turn, not only inspire the generations of Girardians which are to follow, but also be an influence for good upon all whom your lives will touch."

May your achievements bring honor to you and to Girard College and may life be good to you!

John A. Lander
President

To the Class of 1983:

We are all tested repeatedly in life, not in those times and things which go well, but in our setbacks and adversities. It is in dealing with the latter that we grow in character, perspective, and understanding. How well we cope with life's disappointments and difficulties is one measure of our maturity. Certainly, you, as individuals and as a class, have been sorely tested this year. Plans, hopes, and expectations have been shattered by events over which you had no control. Disappointments, frustrations, and bitterness have, at times, made it difficult for you to deal with everyday events in school and in the household.

Yet, this has also been a time of growth for you. You have, for the most part, dealt maturely with events as they unfolded. You have worked hard to provide leadership for the student body and you have tried to be positive and constructive in meeting your responsibilities. You have learned that, in life, we sometimes become involved in situations which we cannot control and that, in such circumstances, we must not allow the situation to control us. Perhaps, these and other lessons you have learned this year are ultimately more valuable than those you would have learned in the classes which did not meet.

Soon after you returned to Girard, Joe Swords and John Chambers interviewed me for the Girard News. As we were finishing, Joe said, "I wish you could have really known our class." So do I. Our time together has been all too brief. I have come to like you and respect you and to appreciate qualities and potentials in you which I hope you will continue to develop.

Well boys...you have my best wishes.

Mechanical Instruction

Auto Shop

Joe Golden, Keith Koenig, Ali Atefi, and John Chambers.

The need for well trained automobile mechanics is ever increasing. The motor vehicle has become an ever increasingly complex machine; as the manufacturer incorporates new and better applications of scientific principles. This constant improvement demands greater dependence upon trained mechanics.

Congratulations to the Senior Class!

Mr. James Sypherd

Art

Dan Amadio, Dave Sutton, Dan Baxter, Rich Bennett, Kevin Chambers, Vincent Blount, and Vaughn J.G. Jackson.

To the Class of '83 I wish you the best of luck and the hope that you never give up on your dreams or lose your imagination.

Mr. Kenneth Kaufman

Dave Tyler, Ken Annand, Phil Brown, Joe Reilly, Joe Swords, Don White, and Mr. Rocco P. Serluco.

Throughout the years, the students of the print shop have secured employment following their training at Girard College. Printing opportunities are still plentiful even though our country is suffering a high rate of unemployment. The on-the-job training the students receive enables them to have a realistic view of work procedures in most printing plants.

The print shop takes pride on being called upon to fulfill almost all the College's printing requirements. Each student participates in our production schedule and sees his work being displayed in every area of the campus. This year book exemplifies the nature of the student's originality and skill along with his memoirs of his last year spent at Girard.

I wish the class of 1983 all the success and good fortune they deserve.

Mr. Rocco P. Serluco

Machine Shop

Tennie James, Dan Donnelly, Ted Hollenbeck, Mr. Guido DiGiovanni, and Joe Stiglieno.

To the Class of 1983. The good work habits nurtured in your shop program and pride in a job well done will help see you through the trying times ahead.
Good luck and best wishes to all.

Mr. Guido DiGiovanni

Drafting

MORE DRAFTSMEN NEEDED! In this age of computers, more and more draftsmen are required by industry to design and draw parts required for the manufacture of computers. Design for the programming of the software must also be done by the draftsman.

There is a place for you in industry even in these days when positions are hard to find so let's get down to business and learn the fundamentals of the trade!

The facilities are here for both mechanical and architectural drafting instruction so why not make use of them?

Mr. Homer Wightman

Mr. William Moore, Bill Stanislawczyk, Steve McLeod, Robert Lee, and Mike O'Neal

To the Class of 1983 your Vocational Staff wishes you the good life. We pray you will work hard, strive for excellence and make us proud of your achievements. Please don't forget the Mechanical School and all it tried so very hard to do for you. Remember to build upon what you find in life and improve things rather than criticize and tear down. Nothing can stop you.

Mr. William A. Moore

Fellow Students,

Although my tenure was short, unfulfilled, and sometimes miserable, I thank you for the opportunity of being your president. The care-less attitude however, of the people who probably won't even read this letter, and should, has left me little room to stabilize or improve our current position.

Leaders are often restricted in speaking the way they truly feel. Being truthful about your position in the future, I unfortunately have to confess that your outlook is dismal. I can only ask you to prevail and have strong school spirit. Build positive character in one another and become a well-balanced nucleus, then you will be able to control your destiny.

However, I would be a liar and a fool to say all of the twelve years I've spent here have been bad. More so than not, the contact with you, the faculty, and administrators, has been both rewarding and beneficial. I sincerely hope these times are remembered more than the negative ones after I'm gone.

In closing, I would like to express my deepest congratulations to my classmates and our parents. May God be good to you in all future ventures.

Joseph M. Reilly
Student Body President

Classmates,

We are just another class in the world to graduate, but in Girard we, the Class of 1983, have made changes; we have fought for success, even though we have run into difficulties that all people face.

I feel that our class of outstanding young men have made a mold to be pressed through by the following classes. We as a class had to fight the hardest transition of any class at Girard. The class had put up with the worst strike encountered in Girard, or in any other school, public or parochial. This has ruined many students, especially the senior class. For we had to get ready for a college or job within less than a year.

As a student who went through Girard for twelve years, I have managed many things. Girard has ripped my classmates and I off of one or more years of an education, and Girard is supposed to be the best around. Our class is just another class that was not prepared to understand, deal, or manage with "the outside world."

My class and I feel that any school or business must have a strong foundation. Without such structure, the rest of the construction is incomplete or unsuccessful.

Speaking for the class, I would like to say thanks to Girard for the possibility to have been a student here at Girard. Girard is a school that has many opportunities for its students. I would hope that each student at Girard would take advantage of these opportunities.

The Original Class of 1983

These six young men, the only men that can call themselves true hummers, have attended this school from the first to twelfth grade. They entered the school at troubled times, and watched to grow into a thought-to-be fine school, only to be disillusioned in our last year of command. One thing I find amazing is how these men found a way to keep their sanity. We have seen our ex-classmates, boys who were only trying to find a good life, either quitting because they couldn't continue at Girard, or getting kicked out because the administration felt "they weren't a favorable asset to the Girard community." We have learned many things at Girard, stuff that we will never forget, and stuff that we will try to block out of our heads and never retrieve. Our stay at Girard has been an experience we will never forget.

*If while pursuing distant dreams
Your bright hopes turn to gray,
Don't wait for reassuring words
Or hands to lead the way.*

*For seldom will you find a soul
With dreams the same as yours.
Not often will another help you
Pass through untried doors.*

*If inner forces urge you
To take a course unknown,
Be ready to go all the way,
Yes, all the way alone.*

How shall I go in peace and without sorrow? Nay, not without a wound in the spirit shall I leave...

Long were the days of pain I spent within its walls, and long were the nights of aloneness; and who can depart from his pain and aloneness without regret? Too many fragments of the spirit have I scattered...and I cannot withdraw from them without a burden and an ache.

It is not a garment I cast off this day, but a skin that I tear with my own hands. Nor is it a thought I leave behind me, but a heart made sweet with hunger and thirst.

That could hide such a lamb
Such a caring young man
And you're fooling yourself if you don't believe it.
And you're killing yourself if you don't believe it.*

The years have taught me many things...lessons well worth the knowing...and through the different things I've learned...I know just where I'm going...I've learned that truth is my best friend...whatever comes or goes as long as I will tell the truth...lessor will be my woes...I've found that time hangs heavy when...I have nothing to do...but when I'm busy time goes by...quickly it says adieu...I've learned that friends are priceless jewels...wondrous to have and hold...many times I've come to know...their value exceeds gold...and last but very far from least...I've learned love is the key...to doors that lead to happiness... and untold ecstasy.

Most everyone has made mistakes... some big and others small...and therefore we should not be hard...on those who slip and fall...instead we should extend our hand...and help to rectify...the oversight or undersight... they may have let pass by...sometimes it's hard to overlook...a blunder made in haste...especially when the error caused...a lot of grief and waste...but if you should become enraged...just stop and count to ten...and you will no doubt find that you...were guilty way back when...so that is why I say think twice...and show a kindly sign...because to err is human and to forgive divine.

The bonds that unite another person to ourself exist only in our mind. Memory as it grows fainter relaxes them, and notwithstanding the illusion by which we would fain be cheated and with which, out of love, friendship, politeness, deference, duty, we cheat other people, we exist alone. Man is the creature that cannot emerge from himself; that knows his fellows only in himself; when he asserts the contrary, he is lying.

WE CAME,

WE SAW,

WE CONQUERED

In 1982, Girard runners lost a close championship battle with Glen Mills School in the Penn-Jersey Championships. But, in 1983, the Soldiers of Girard came back to fulfill a dream to be the first team at Girard to win a track title in the history of the Penn-Jersey Conference. The 12 young horsemen performed unlimited talents to crush all opponents in their way to be number one.

I personally would like to thank each and every one of my young soldiers (as we are known) for a beautiful and successful track season. May success continue to follow them through life. A special thanks to head J.V. coach, Mr. Brian Ruth, for an outstanding job this season.

Respectfully yours
 Bob Jackson

The Varsity baseball season began with three consecutive "Neutron Bombs" being dropped upon us by three far superior teams. At the conclusion, the only things still untouched were the green grass, the Armory and our spirit. Out of this holocaust, has emerged the Phoenix of Team togetherness, enjoyment of participation, anticipation of each new game and (along with slightly lowered expectations for a season "in the black") a visceral appreciation for the great effort put forth by this young, inexperienced team. The Penn-Jersey Conference play-offs are yet within our grasp and, with the steady improvement of each individual on the team, their dedication and their co-operation, Girard College will be a team soon to be reckoned with. It has been my distinct pleasure to associate with some of the finest, most entertaining and dedicated MEN I've seen in recent years on this campus. WE ARE A TEAM! It's with pride in having known them and with a certain sadness in seeing them graduate that I bid farewell to the seniors — Tennie James and Joe Reilly. Farewell and God Speed.

Tennis

WHAT IS TENNIS? A game . . . a sport . . . competition . . . a workout . . . a social escape . . . a livelihood. Tennis is what we want it to be. It means all things to all people. All players are unique in their individual styles and destinies; I hope that I have been able to give my players the basis to pursue their goals as far as they wish in this life-long sport, and that future talent will continue to feed into the program.
